About the Community Foundation

The Greenbrier Valley Community Foundation is a collection of funds, each with its own fund agreement, donors, and philanthropic purpose. Responsibility for policy and direction is vested in a volunteer Board of Directors consisting of residents of Greenbrier, Monroe, and Pocahontas counties.

What Does the Community Foundation Do?

Establishes endowment funds for individuals and businesses that provide money for charitable purposes in perpetuity. Sponsors choose the name of their fund and the recipients of its annual distributions. Income is distributed to the selected nonprofit organizations for years to come. This function is similar to creating a private foundation. As a publicly supported organization, GVCF offers maximum deductibility for income, gift, and estate purposes. GVCF only distributes income and never principal, whereas private foundations are required to distribute at least 3% of their net assets annually regardless of market growth.

Establishes endowments for nonprofit organizations. Charitable organizations benefit from endowments by allowing them to pool their resources for greater diversity of holdings and economies of scale in purchasing power. These endowments also reassure donors and granting organizations that the nonprofit has a guaranteed financial future.
Operates its own unrestricted fund which awards grants to nonprofits in the Greenbrier Valley. GVCF has used this fund to distribute over $200,000 to various charities, municipalities, civic organizations, and students in Greenbrier, Monroe, and Pocahontas counties. These funds are also used to award student scholarships at the four public high schools in our region.

Mission Statement

The mission of The Greenbrier Valley Community Foundation is to create a tradition of charitable giving and enhance the quality of life of the people of the Greenbrier Valley by accepting contributions, managing funds, and making charitable contributions.

It’s a research-based experience that includes a mentor, a hands-on project, and a meaningful leadership opportunity. 4-H reaches almost 300 young people in Monroe County and beyond through our community of 11 local clubs, an active Leaders’ Association, and 4-H Foundation. Programs are delivered by over 60 4-H professionals and 45 county volunteers. Young people experience 4-H through community clubs, after-school programs and 4-H camps. Based on their interests and guided by adult mentors, youth develop their own pathway in 4-H. They select from a broad menu of local 4-H programs. There are hands-on, learn-by-doing, opportunities for everyone.
